

RE-flower 8

The series introduces roses - roses in bags.

One night when I lay awake on-off, as I often do, an image came to my mind, with a reference to Olga Rozanova's "Green Stripe" from 1918. The subject of my image consisted of horizontal roses in bags with an almost similar green vertical stripe.

The rest is what happens if you in the morning still remember - and decide to take action.

A re-flowering with an inherent respectful nod to life as a challenge and a "positive" to life in general, both the trivial, the mysterious one as well as life past understanding.

June 2015

Jan Skovgård

Link to photos: <http://www.janskovgard.dk/wordpress/?cat=33>